May Allah Protect You

Practice worksheets

Name: _____ Date: _____

1. Choose the listener

Write an appropriate protection prayer for one male, one female and a group.

2. Respond kindly

Write two short replies to a kind prayer, in Arabic or English.

3. Match the meaning

Explain the difference between mashallah, inshallah and Allahumma barik.

4. Check the source

Label your own prayer as personal wording. If quoting a verse or hadith, record its exact reference.

Male ending: ka. Female ending: ki. Group ending: kum. Use the Arabic reference in the visual.

Ameen; thank you for your kind prayer; may Allah protect you too are suitable examples.

Mashallah acknowledges; inshallah concerns a future hope; Allahumma barik asks for blessing. Personal wording is not automatically a hadith.

Use with the full article. Teacher feedback is recommended for pronunciation.

Apply it: reference and practice

May Allah Protect You from Evil Eye

Conversation planner: choose the listener, write a sincere prayer and prepare a kind reply.

Listener	Prayer / expression	Reply

Source check: My wording / Quran quotation / Hadith quotation (circle one).
Reference, if quoted: _____

Warm-message task: acknowledge an achievement, ask for blessing and close kindly.